

Our 2023 HealthSense Student Prize-winners Noelle Yau and Toni Oduwale (both UCL), and Sakshee Ramakrishnan (Lancaster Medical School) after receiving their cheques from writer and broadcaster Nick Ross

HEALTH CARE STUDENTS CAN WIN UP TO £500

Enter the 2024 HealthSense Student Prize

This year it could be YOU. There are two first prizes of £500 each, one for medical and dental students and one for students of nursing, midwifery and professions allied to medicine. Plus, up to five runner-up prizes of £100 are awarded in each category.

Collect your award at a ceremony with dinner in London. And you'll have a national prize to add to your CV.

What past winners said about the HealthSense Student Prize:

"an opportunity to test my critical appraisal skills whilst improving my knowledge of clinical trial protocols for my research job"

"gave me a real appreciation for how research should be carried out"

TAKE THE CHALLENGE

Decide which of four hypothetical research protocols is most likely to produce gold standard evidence. Rank them, and explain your choices in no more than 600 words.

MAKE THE DEADLINE

23:59 BST on 30 April 2024
